

American Institute of Nutrition

Invitation for Nominations 1992

American Institute of Nutrition Awards

The American Institute of Nutrition, with financial support from a group of corporations and foundations, annually provides six prestigious awards that recognize superior achievement in nutrition research and public service:

- The Bio-Serv Award in Experimental Animal Nutrition, sponsored by Bio-Serv, Inc., for meritorious research in nutrition by an investigator who received the doctoral degree in the ten years preceding the month the award is presented.
- The Osborne and Mendel Award, sponsored by International Life Sciences Institute-Nutrition Foundation, for outstanding recent basic research accomplishments in nutrition.
- The Borden Award in Nutrition, sponsored by Borden Inc., for distinctive research, by investigators in the U.S. and Canada, on the nutritional significance of any food or food component.
- The Conrad A. Elvehjem Award for Public Service in Nutrition, sponsored by Nabisco Brands, for specific and distinguished service to the public through the science of nutrition.
- The Mead Johnson Award, sponsored by Mead Johnson Nutritionals, for a single outstanding piece of recent research in nutrition or a series of recent papers on the same subject by an investigator who is under 40 years of age at the time the award is presented.
- The Lederle Award in Human Nutrition, sponsored by Lederle Laboratories, for recent investigative contributions of contemporary significance to the understanding of human nutrition.

American Institute of Nutrition Fellows

Scientists who have had distinguished careers in nutrition and are at least sixty-five years of age are eligible for nomination as Fellows of the American Institute of Nutrition. Membership in the Institute is not a requirement.

The E.V. McCollum International Lectureship in Nutrition

This Lectureship provides a means of encouraging sound advancements in nutritional science and their application in improving the health and well-being of people worldwide and to commemorate the life and contributions of E.V. McCollum. An outstanding nutritionist will be invited to lecture on a topic and in a location which will provide broad coverage of a subject that will promote the purpose of the Lectureship.

Please consult the June, 1991 issue of AIN Nutrition Notes for nomination guidelines. The deadline for receipt of nominations is October 1, 1991 at the AIN Secretariat, 9650 Rockville Pike, Bethesda, Maryland 20814.
