

CONTENTS OF VOLUME II

JOURNAL OF NUTRITION

No. 1, SEPTEMBER, 1929

	PAGE
EVANS, H. M., and SAMUEL LEPKOVSKY, Technique for determination of the antineuritic vitamin B.	1
QUINN, E. J., C. G. KING, and B. H. DIMIT, A study of the effect of certain diets upon the growth and form of albino rats.	7
DANIELS, AMY L., DOROTHY JORDAN, and MARY K. HUTTON, The development of the suckling young of milk fed rats.	19
MCQUARRIE, IRVINE, Protein metabolism of children on diets extremely low in carbohydrate.	31
BING, FRANKLIN C., and LAFAYETTE B. MENDEL, The vitamin B and the vitamin G requirements of the albino rat.	49
HELLER, V. G., and CHARLES CASKEY, An application of some of the more recent methods of estimating vitamin D.	59
MAYNARD, L. A., and C. M. MCCAY, The influence of a low-fat diet upon fat metabolism during lactation.	67
MURLIN, JOHN R., WILLARD R. LINE, H. A. PIPER, and H. B. PIERCE, The nutritive value of cereal breakfast foods. I. Composition and heat value.	83
CARMAN, J. S., H. G. SMITH, GLADYS C. HAVENS, and J. R. MURLIN, The nutritive value of cereal breakfast foods. II. Digestibility in vitro , with a study of methods.	91

No. 2, NOVEMBER, 1929

JONES, LOYD A., Isolation of narrow spectral regions by selective absorption.	111
CLAUSEN, ETHEL M. LUCE, The use of isolated radiations in experiments with the rat. I. The effect of infra-red radiation on the growth of the rachitic rat.	125
ROSE, WILLIAM C., and FLORENCE L. CATHERWOOD, Do baking powder residues exert injurious effects upon growth and nutrition?	155
SCHWARTZE, E. W., F. J. MURPHY, and R. M. HANN, Rolled oats and bran in a scurvy-producing diet and the negative control test.	171
HUGHES, J. S., H. F. LIENHARDT, and C. E. AUBEL, Nerve degeneration resulting from avitaminosis A.	183
WHITACRE, JESSIE, ALICE WILLARD, and KATHERINE BLUNT, Influence of fiber on nitrogen balance and on fat in the feces of human subjects.	187
MCLAUGHLIN, LAURA, The nutritive value of New Zealand spinach.	197

	PAGE
HITCHCOCK, F. A., and FRANCES R. WARDWELL, Cyclic variations in the basal metabolic rate of women.....	203

No. 3, JANUARY, 1930

MATTILL, H. A., and H. G. SMITH, The nutritive value of cereal breakfast foods. III. The rate of digestion and absorption as determined by experiments on rats.....	217
MITCHELL, H. H., and JESSIE R. BEADLES, The paired-feeding method in nutrition experiments and its application to the problem of cystine deficiencies in food proteins.....	225
LONG, M. LOUISA and FRITZ BISCHOFF, The effect of insulin upon the body weight of the rabbit.....	245
HONEYWELL, HANNAH E., R. ADAMS DUTCHER, and CHESTER D. DAHLE, Vitamin studies XVII. Ossifying potency of raw and evaporated milks.....	251
MORITZ, ALAN R, and CARL KRENZ, The relation of the fat-soluble vitamins A and D to the development of experimental rickets in rabbits.....	257
RUSSELL, WALTER C., The vitamin A content of yellow and white-capped yellow dent corn.....	265
COX, GERALD J., and LEONA HUDSON, The nephropathogenic action of cystine. II. The dietary control of cystine nephrosis.....	271
HART, E. B., C. A. ELVEHJEM, and H. STEENBOCK, A study of the anemia of young pigs and its prevention.....	277
FALCON-LESSES, MARK, The cause of the laxative action of bran.....	295
MURLIN, JOHN R., The emptying mechanism of the stomach.....	311

No. 4, MARCH, 1930

SCHWARTZE, E. W., F. J. MURPHY, and R. M. HANN, Studies on the destruction of vitamin C in the boiling of milk.....	325
AXTMAYER, J. H., A study of the vitamin B complex of red kidney beans and polished rice.....	353
CARPENTER, THORNE M., and EDWARD L. FOX, The gaseous exchange of the human subject. I. As affected by the ingestion of water at 37.0° C.....	359
CARPENTER, THORNE M., and EDWARD L. FOX, The gaseous exchange of the human subject. II. As affected by small quantities of dextrose	375
CARPENTER, THORNE M., and EDWARD L. FOX, The gaseous exchange of the human subject. III. As affected by small quantities of levulose.....	389
SANDELS, M. R., Experimental nutritional polyneuritis in the rat.....	409
SHERMAN, H. C., and H. L. CAMPBELL, Further experiments on the influence of food upon longevity.....	415
THOMAS, KARL, Biological values and the behavior of food and tissue proteins.....	419
