Scientists are better than one.

Research Diets, Inc. has established a scientific Resource Center staffed with eight Ph. D. and Masters level scientists with access to over 12,000 original OpenSource Diet® formulas plus, a database of more than 2,500 journal articles.

Our conversations begin with discussions of animal models being used, desired phenotype and dietary requirements. Next, our scientists will search the published literature to provide you with tools to make an informed decision on diet selection based on solid science. We will then formulate, produce and ship a custom diet in 5 to 7 business days.

“...in the business beats us at delivering exceptional service. And knowledgeable people know that no one beats LabDiet at delivering the highest quality animal nutrition.”
- Bill Clark

Most of the top-ranked investigators specify LabDiet® for their important work. The only exception is when a study requires a specialized diet. That’s when the experts turn to TestDiet® from Purina®, because they respect the quality and accuracy of these custom formulations.
