

American Society for Nutrition
Journal of Nutrition Supplement Publication
Conflict of Interest Disclosure Form
For Supplement Coordinators
(rev 5/2009)

General Information and Guidance for Supplement Coordinators:

The integrity of The Journal of Nutrition, its authors and its publisher, the American Society for Nutrition (ASN), is best served by full disclosure of any potential conflicts of interest on the part of supplement sponsors, supplement coordinators and/or supplement guest editors. Therefore ASN policy requires that supplement coordinators disclose to the Society prior to publication any conflict of interest or any appearance of a conflict of interest which could exist as a result of their association with the proposed publication. A conflict of interest includes, but is not limited to:

- any significant financial interest in a company/supplement sponsor
- a current grant, contract or subcontract, or consulting agreement with the supplement sponsor
- employment by supplement sponsor
- or financial interest in a product or procedure that is mentioned in an article included in the publication
- the receipt of compensation from the supplement sponsor for services performed as supplement coordinator is considered a potential conflict of interest.
- Compensation from supplement sponsor for attending, speaking at or organizing a meeting or symposium
- Compensation from supplement sponsor for organizing, writing, editing or reviewing a manuscript, collection of manuscripts, supplement publication, book or other published work.
- Holding stocks or shares in supplement sponsor or other organization that may gain or lose financially from the information included in supplement publication.
- Acting as an expert witness on the topic of the supplement publication

The following footnotes will be included on all supplement manuscripts: (1) Statement of supplement publication and identification of supplement coordinator(s); (2) Supplement coordinator disclosure statement and supplement guest editor disclosure statements [guest editor to be appointed by The Journal of Nutrition Editor] and (3) Author disclosure statement. Examples are provided below:

¹Published in a supplement to The Journal of Nutrition. Presented at the "American Society of Research, 25th Annual Meeting," held in Albany, NY, September 19-23, 2003. The American Society of Research, 25th Annual Meeting was sponsored by The XYZ Council and by Axon Corporation. Supplement coordinators for the supplement publication were Mary J. West, College of Nutrition, University of Southwest, Tempe, AZ and Frances Miller, University of Trumansburg, Memphis, TN.

² Supplement coordinator disclosure: Drs. West and Miller received travel support from The XYZ Council; Drs. West and Miller received compensation from The XYZ Council for editorial services provided for this supplement publication; Dr. West received an unrestricted grant from Axon Corporation. Supplement guest editors disclosure: no conflicts to disclose

² Author disclosure: Research reported in manuscript supported in part by Grant-in-Aid for Scientific Research (B) (2) (11460060 and 11460059).

Each supplement coordinator is required to consider the subject and content of the supplement publication in light of any potential relationships, as delineated above, that could present a conflict of interest or the appearance thereof and to submit a completed Conflict of Interest Disclosure Form, provided on page 2 of this document.

The Journal of Nutrition
Conflict of Interest Disclosure Form
For Supplement Coordinators

Title/topic of supplement publication: _____

Supplement coordinator(s): _____

Supplement sponsors: _____

Disclosure Statement

I have read the above statement and declare that relative to this publication:

- () There are no relationships to disclose
- () There is a relationship, disclosed below, that could represent or be perceived to represent a conflict of interest.

Nature of potential conflict: _____

Supplement Coordinator Signature: _____

Print Name: _____

Date: _____

Return to: Ms. Karen King, American Society for Nutrition, 9650 Rockville Pike, Bethesda, MD 20814-3990. Fax: 301-634-7892; Tel: 301-634-7053.